DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Bredberg et al. (Bredberg; US 6,154,534; cited and applied for the first time).

The entire patent to Bredberg plainly and completely teaches the claimed steps for dividing an LNP database based on the geographic locations of ported subscribers. Refer inter alia to column 4, lines 15 – 45. The claimed plurality of different processing modules read on the LNP network elements of Bredberg which Bredberg further defines as GTT databases.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.

Art Unit: 2642

2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
 3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
 4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.
5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
6. Claims 6, 7, 11, 14, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bredberg as applied above.

Bredberg is silent with respect to the IP telephony environment. However, IP telephony is ubiquitous in the present state of the telephony art and whatever special services well known in traditional PSTN are naturally being applied to IP telephony to provide the same service as in traditional PSTN. Therefore, lacking criticality, it would have been obvious even to one of ordinary skill in the art to apply the number portability feature of Bredberg into the IP telephony environment.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Column 4, lines 48 –65 of Chan et al. teaches the partitioning of the global LNP database so that different geographic number groups are assigned to different sections of the database.
